

SEMINAR ON LITERATURE, ETHICS, AND AESTHETICS

Lysebu 18 November 2010

- 09.30–10.00 Coffee/tea
10.00–10.15 Jakob Lothe (University of Oslo): Welcome, opening of the seminar
10.15–11.00 Professor J. Hillis Miller (University of California, Irvine):
Should we read or teach literature now?
11.00–11.15 Coffee/tea
11.15 –12.00 Peter Svare Valeur (University of Oslo): Ethics, aesthetics, history:
Eichendorff's sonnet "Das Alter"
12.00–13.30 Lunch
13.30–14.15 Julie Kleiva (University of Oslo): Comments on translations of René Char's
"Redonnez-leur..."
14.30–15.15 Liesbeth Korthals Altes (University of Groningen):
Ethical turns, circularities, and a meta-(ethical/critical) way out
15.15–15.45 Coffee/tea
15.45–16.30 James Phelan (Ohio State University):
Narrative progression, ethics, and race in Adventures of Huckleberry Finn
16.45–17.15 Plenary discussion: The ethical dimension of literary studies
18.00– Dinner

The seminar is arranged by the PhD sub-programme Literature and Classical subjects, Faculty of Arts,
University of Oslo